WM. SCHEER OF FRANKFORT PASSES AWAY

Funeral services attended by hundreds; lived here all his life.

BURIAL IN PLEASANT HILL

Frankfort, Oct. 2.—William Scheer, aged fifty-six years, a lifelong resident of Frankfort township, died Wednesday night at his home at 6:45 o'clock, following a paralytic stroke. Mr. Scheer had been in poor health all summer, but of late had appeared to be improving. Monday he was evidently feeling better, as he went about town and seemed to be in quite good spirits. Tuesday noon, while seated at the dinner table, he was seized with a paralytic stroke and soon after lapsed into unconsciousness, from which he never recovered.

Funeral services were held from the late home Saturday afternoon to the St. Peter's German Evangelical church, Rev. G. Lambrecht officiating. Hundreds of people attended the funeral, the large church building being hardly able to accommodate all. Mr. Scheer was one of the charter members of the Brotherhood of the St. Peter's church and also served as the treasurer of this organization since its inception, and the members of the brotherhood all took a special part in the funeral services, marching from the [illegible] to the church in a body. The Brotherhood as a body [illegible] selection and the Brotherhood quartet also sang. A mixed quartet sang a number of selections. Mr. Baumgartner sang a solo.

At the Pleasant Hill cemetery, where interment took place, the Brotherhoop took part in the services at the grave, each member dropping a sprig of evergreen on the lowered casket. The members all wore purple badges.

William Scheer, son of John Scheer, was born in Frankfort township April 5, 1863. In 1902 he was united in marriage to Miss Mary Klepper. There are no children. The deceased is survived by his widow, three brothers, Ferdinand, Charles and John, all of Frankfort; two sisters, Mrs. Fred Marti and Mrs. Paul Heusner, also of Frankfort township.

CELEBRATE WEDDING ANNIVERSARY.

A company of 50 relatives and friends sprang a delightful surprise on Mr. and Mrs. John Hanson Thursday evening in honor of their fortieth wedding anniversary. The affair was gotten up by the latter's daughters, Mrs. Ferdinand Scheer, Mrs. Albert Staffenberg and Mrs. Lydia Schmidt. A bountiful supper was served at six o'clock. The evening was spent socially. The guests had all "chipped in" and purchased a beautiful electric parlor lamp, complete with shade, which they presented to Mr. and Mrs. Hanson. The honored couple have been residents of Frankfort for many years and are well known throughout this portion of the county.

SHOWER FOR BRIDE-TO-BE.

A company of 26 friends from Joliet, Ottawa and other points recently held a shower at the home of Mrs. Peter Hanson, in honor of her daughter, Miss Etta, who is to be a bride this month. All of the guests were deaf and dumb, but in spite of their afflictions they were some of the happiest people seen. They had a jolly good time. Miss Hanson became acquainted with many of these friends while attending a deaf and dumb school.

INJURED IN FALL.

While John Hanson was handling a couch at his home he made a misstep and fell down the porch stairs Thursday night. He sustained a severe shaking up and was unable to walk. He has been laid up for several days, but is improving.

MARLEY PLANS UNIQUE PROGRAM FOR NEXT SUN.

Marley, Oct. 2.—The Marley Baptist church will present a very unique program next Sunday when a living poster exhibit on "The Immigrant" will be shown in connection with a sermon on "Christian Americanism" by Rev. V. L. Rust. The living posters will depict the immigrant as follows: First poster "Immigrant"—the Coming American; second poster "Why He Came"—the drawing power of liberty. Recitation "An Ode to America." Song "The Battle Hymn of the Republic." Third poster "What He Finds"—"Slums." "Bridge All Chasms With [illegible] "Flower Factory." Fourth poster "What They Find"—"We Ask Not Where He Was Born, But What He Is." Recitation "The Least of These." Fifth poster "What We Can Give Them"—"Fellowship and Friendship for Foreign Born." Sixth poster "Immigrant no Longer"—"Americans all." Address "The Place of a Church in the Americanization Movement" by Miss Naomi Fletcher, secretary of the Christian Organization of Chicago.

In the morning the annual Rally day exercises will be held at the Marley Baptist church at 10:30 o'clock. The Sunday school will have charge of this program.

Last Thursday Mrs. Edward Werner, assisted by Mrs. John Sproat and Mrs. A. R. Kercheval, entertained the Missionary society. About fifty guests were present. Rev. Mr. Rust gave his second of the series of lectures on Paul, covering the early life and education of the famous apostle. These talks are being much enjoyed and appreciated During the afternoon the ladies sewed on quilt blocks for the bazaar to be held the first part of December.

A very unique way of collecting money for the Missionary fund was to make miniature gingham aprons with a tiny pocket, which were sent out to the members inviting them to attend the meeting and to place as many pennies in the apron pocket as the recipient measured in inches around the waist. By this unique method $30 was raised.

The Brotherhood held an old fashioned social at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Werner, Friday evening Oct. 3. The guests were invited to come dressed in old fashioned clothes, to an old fashioned social, with an old fashioned supper at an old fashioned price.

Miss Myrtle Werner has completed her course in the Metropolitan Business college and on the first of October took up her first position at the Silver Cross hospital office.

The Maple Street Arbor of the Ancient Order of Gleaners expect a carload of potatoes soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess O. Marshall entertained at an over Sunday house party the following guests: Mrs. Harlow Scheer and daughter Helen of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Eaton of the Elwood road, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Van Aukenburg of Joliet.

Mr. and Mrs. Hans Benson of Wilmington and Mr. and Mrs. A. Peterson of Joliet were guests at the Ed. Van Duser home, Sunday.

TINLEY PARK PREPARES FOR SALOON RETURN

Tinley Park, Oct. 2.—According to the reports of the local saloonkeepers there is a prospect of the saloons selling beer and liquor again between the first and 18th of October. The local saloonkeepers have ordered a supply of liquor from the traveling liquor salesmen, but the stock is not to be delivered until the saloons can open for certain. Some of the local saloonkeepers have placed orders for hundreds of dollars worth of liquor. If the saloons do come back they will be able to stay in business only to January 16, when the national prohibition amend-

TO FETE BOYS.

The Tinley Park boys, who belong to the Zion Lutheran church, are to be feted at a chicken supper to be held October 9 at the Saenger Hall under the auspices of the Ladies Aid society. A special table will be reserved for the boys who will attend in full uniform. They will be provided with free tickets.

In addition to the supper a bazaar will also be directed. Following the supper a program will be carried out.

TO ENFORCE SUNDAY CLOSING.

The Hick and Messenbrink meat market has issued a notice that their store will not be open on Sunday after October first.

PASTOR REFUSES CALL.

Rev. A. Buddenhagen, pastor of the local Zion Lutheran church, has received a call from the Evang. Lutheran Trinity church of West Chicago, but he has refused to accept the call. Rev. Mr. Buddenhagen has served as pastor of the local Lutheran church the past 17 years.

OBSERVE HARVEST FESTIVAL.

Special services in observance of the annual harvest festival were held at the Zion Lutheran church Sunday by Rev. A. Buddenhagen. The church was prettily decorated with fall flowers and fruits. In connection with this service was a special home coming service in honor of the boys of the congregation who have returned from service in the army and navy. A service flag bearing 14 service stars, which has been hanging in the church since the boys started entering in the service of their country, has been taken down. The congregation at the close of the service stood and sang "Now let us all thank our God." A liberal collection was also taken for the benefit of the church institutions of learning.

CELEBRATE BIRTHDAY.

A large company of relatives and friends gathered Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Stelter to celebrate the birthday of their daughter Loranine. The afternoon was spent socially. A bountious supper was served to fifty guests.

Mokena' Oldest Resident Passes 97th Birthday

On Sunday, Sept. 28th Mrs. Nettie Stork, Mokena's oldest resident, passed her 97th birthday. For some years her home has been with her daughter, Mrs. John Cappel, where many relatives and friends called during the day to congratulate her and to extend good wishes. Mrs. Stork is fortunate in being closely surrounded by the major portion of her family.

There were present, her daughters, Mrs. Margaret Dietz of Joliet, Mrs. Lawrence Schweser, Mrs. George Wannemacher and Mrs. John Cappel, all of Mokena. Seven grand children and three great grand children, besides neighbors and friends of many years standing. One son, Philip Stork, is at present in New Mexico. Mrs. Stork's eldest grandchild, Kittie L. Gannett of Chicago, also celebrated her natal day on this date.

Mrs. Stork with her husband and oldest daughter came to Mokena from Germany in 1852 when it required 42 days to cross the ocean.

CELEBRATE PASTOR'S 25TH ANNIVERSARY

Ministers surpri[illegible] Rev. C. Becker of [illegible] in honor of occasion.

Matteson, Oct. 2.—Rev. C. Becker, pastor of the local Zion Lutheran church, has seen 25 years of active service in the ministry, and in honor of this event the pastors of the Chicago Heights conference, of which Rev. Mr. Becker is a member, sprung a surprise on the worthy clergyman Monday evening. Special services were held and the various pastors gave addresses befitting the occasion. Rev. Mr. Becker served two charges before coming to Matteson and received a letter of congratulations from one charge and a letter inclosing a money order for $30 from another charge. The local congregation also clubbed together and gave him a present of money.

On Tuesday the regular conference was held in Matteson instead of Chicago Heights as is usually done. Following the conference the Ladies' Aid society of this church served the ministers with a bountiful spread at the German schoolhouse.

Rev. Mr. Becker has served the Matteson charge for 17 years. He is a very able worker and minister. During his quarter of a century of service as a servant of the Lord, Rev. Mr. Becker has only served three different charges.

FRANKFORT TWP. WINS $25 PRIZE ON BEST BOOTH

Frankfort Township had the honor of winning a $25 prize for the best decorated booth at the recent County Home Coming celebrated at Dellwood The booth represented Japan and the committee in charge consisted of Mrs. A. O. Maue, Mrs. E. P. Krapp, G. W Maue and Mrs. Chas. Balchowsky of Frankfort.

Miss Minnie Scheer entertained her cousin Mr. Nauman of Chicago Saturday.

Mrs. Geo. Marti spent Tuesday with Dr. and Mrs. Rich of Joliet.

PLAN FOR HOME IMPROVEMENT CLUB ON FOOT

Mokena women have partly organized; Mrs. Lisher expected.

NOT DENOMINATIONAL

Mokena, Oct. 2.—A movement has been launched to organize a Home Improvement club for Mokena. A meeting was called Wednesday evening at the home of the Mesdames George and Frank Moriarty for the purpose of getting the organization started. Mrs. Paul Lisher, wife of the county advisor had been expected to be present, but was unable to come. In her absence Mrs. M. S. Brinckerhoff was appointed chairman. The ladies discussed the nature of the work proposed by the organization and all were in favor of it. The following officers were chosen:

President, Mrs. M. S. Brinckerhoff; secretary, Mrs. W. J. Kemnitz; treasurer, Mrs. E. P. Krapp.

The proposed club is not a denominational affair, but is part of a county-wide organization. Soon as Mrs. Lisher is able to come another meeting will be arranged for and the work of organization perfected. A number of the Mokena ladies attended the Frankfort Home Improvement club meeting held at the home of Mrs. Kohlhagen in Frankfort last Tuesday.

[illegible] PROPERTY.

[illegible] Hall of [illegible] purchased the Thomas J. McCarthy property from Mrs. McCarthy the past week and expects to take possession at an early date. Mrs. McCarthy held a sale of her houshold goods Saturday. The sale was well attended and the articles sold brought good prices.

HERE FROM MONTANA.

Marcus Liess, son of Frank Liess, former cashier of the Mokena State bank arrived here Saturday from Roundup, Montana. Marcus had the honor of having charge of four carloads of western cattle which were shipped from his father's ranch to New Lenox where they have been pastured in the Maltby field. Marclus made the trip alone, being one week on the road. He is visiting with his grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Liess.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Martin, former Mokena residents, have sold out their farm in Montana and will locate at Danville. Mrs. Martin arrived in Mokena unexpectedly Sunday morning. Her brother, John Lang, was on the same train but did not know his sister was on board. When they got off at Mokena Mrs. Martin recognized him, but he failed to recognize his sister at once as she has changed considerably since leaving Mokena. They both went to the home of their mother, Mrs. Albert Hodell. The latter was also greatly surprised over the unexpected arrival of her daughter who has not been back to Mokena since she left here over seven years ago. Mrs. Martin says that the crops have been a total failure near Wiebaux, Montana, where they lived. Lack of rain was the cause.

NEWSLETS.

Miss Alma Bechstein entered the University of Chicago Monday to take up a course.

Mrs. Etta Marti and daughter, Miss Anna, of Chicago spent the week end with Mokena friends. They have had their furniture which was stored here shipped to Chicago. They have moved into a new home in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mall are going to go to housekeeping soon. They will locate in the Braun dwelling to be vacated this week by the young family.

SWEET POTATOES NEED GOOD CARE

Secrets of Success in Obtaining High Prices Are to Grade, Clean and Pack.

BIG DEMAND DURING WINTER

Clean, Neat and Attractive Packages Should Be Used for Shipping and Covered With Paper During Severe Weather.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

An explanation of why farmers have not received better prices for their sweet potatoes is that they have not used proper methods of handling and marketing. In many cases the potatoes are badly bruised and cut in digging, then are put in bags or rough barrels without grading, and rushed on the market when there is an oversupply. The secrets of success in getting high prices are to grade, clean and pack the product carefully and put it upon the market when there is a keen demand. The greatest demand for sweet potatoes is, as a rule, from the middle of December to the middle of March.

Best Type for Market.

The market demands a medium-sized, uniform type of sweet potato, free from bruises or decayed spots. In grading, all undersized and the large, overgrown, crooked, broken, or bruised potatoes should be kept at home for feeding or for canning. The best potatoes will bring more money than will both the culls and the primes marketed together. Two market grades are sometimes made, the "extra selects" or "primes" and the "seconds," but the Southern farmer will do well to make just one market grade and keep the others for home use or for feeding to his live stock.

Attractive Packages.

After carefully grading, sweet potatoes should be put in clean, neat, attractive packages. Bags should never be used, as the potatoes in them become badly bruised when handled. The standard veneer potato barrel with a burlap cover is often used in summer or autumn, but for winter shipment the double-headed stave barrel or tight box is often used. The small type of package, such as the bushel hamper, bushel box, or basket, is gaining in popularity. A neat and attractive package of well-graded potatoes will bring a good price at almost any time, even when the market is overstocked with inferior goods. Sweet potatoes, when shipped during the winter, should be protected from the cold. When a potato becomes chilled its quality is impaired and decay soon follows. In cold weather the package should be covered with paper and the cars heated, in order to prevent chilling the potatoes. Some shippers report that it pays to line their baskets and barrels with paper.

GOOD TREATMENT FOR COLDS

Small Amount of Potassium Permanganate in Drinking Water Is Quite Satisfactory.

If any birds in the flock develop colds, put as much potassium permanganate as will remain on the surface of a dime into a gallon of water and keep this mixture in their drinking water for several days, or until the symptoms of the colds have disappeared. Remove any sick birds from the flock as soon as they are noted and treat them in coops by themselves, or kill and bury them if they are not worth treating.

DROPPINGS SHOULD BE SAVED

Can Be Used to Increase Fertility of Soil and Ought to Be Carefully Stored Away.

No matter how small the flock of poultry the droppings should be carefully saved, stored and either used as fertilizer for plants or disposed of to persons who can so use them to increase the fertility of the soil.

CONSTRUCTION PLAN OF A STORAGE ROOM

Natural Earth Makes Better Floor Than Concrete or Brick.

Care Exercised in Making Frame Square and Plumb Will Enable Builder to Get Structure Tight With Little Labor.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The size of the storage room should be determined by the space available and the amount of material to be stored. Natural earth makes a better floor than concrete or brick, as a certain amount of moisture is desirable. The walls of the storage room should be parallel to the walls of the cellar. Lay 2 by 4-inch scantling flat on the floor and secure them with pegs driven into the floor or by nailing them to the top of short posts set in the ground. Set 2 by 4-inch studding from this sill to the ceiling, spacing them 16 inches apart from center to center. Locate the door of the storage room at the most convenient point, making it large enough to admit barrels, boxes, etc., a good size being 2½ feet wide by 6½ feet high. Set the studs on either side of the door 32 inches apart, which will allow for the door and the frame. Put a header over the door, allowing one inch for the frame and seven-eighths of an inch for the sill at the bottom. Set the studs against the walls where the cellar walls and storage room walls meet. Care exercised in making the [illegible] to get the [illegible] tight with a minimum of labor. A good room is made by covering the studding on the outside with tongue-and-groove material, but a better way is to sheathe the outside with plain lumber, tack building paper on this, and side with tongue-and-groove material. This construction in connection with lath and plaster or wall board on the inside makes an excellent room.

HOG GOOD LABOR EQUALIZER

Animal Can Harvest Various Crops in More Efficient Manner Than Transient Farm Hand.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Practically every farmer can plant and cultivate a larger acreage than he can harvest.

When the harvest season comes he is overworked.

Also, he has to depend on transient labor which often is unreliable.

And, after all, a considerable portion of the crop may have to go to waste because it cannot be gathered in time.

The hog, helped out by cattle and sheep, when practicable, is an excellent labor equalizer.

He harvests the corn crop more efficiently than the transient farm hand can be expected to do it—and does not have to be superintended by the owner of the farm.

He is equally efficient in harvesting rye, or clover, or alfalfa, or soy beans, or cow peas.

When the farmer makes use of the co-operative quality of the hog he has more time for essential tasks, more time to look out for his own health and happiness and that of his family, makes more money on the year's operations, and has better ground for the next year's crops.

The farm that depends on transient laborers as harvesters is likely to grow poorer year by year. The farm that uses hogs as harvesters is certain to grow more fertile with every crop.

STRAW AS WINTER ROUGHAGE

Also Advisable to Use It Liberally for Bedding as It Absorbs Liquid Manure.

Straw is too valuable to be allowed to remain unused. Fresh oat straw, as well as wheat straw, can be used as a roughage in wintering stock. It is also advisable to use it liberally as bedding for farm animals as it adds to their comfort and absorbs the liquid part of the manure, which is the most valuable portion.

UNIFORM APPLE GRADE LAWS ASSIST IN SOLVING VARIOUS MARKETING PROBLEMS

Preparing Apples for Market—Packing in Barrels.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

There is a growing sentiment, both among apple growers and dealers, in favor of standard apple-grading laws, say specialists of the bureau of markets, United States department of agriculture. The objects, they say, to be attained by such laws are: Elimination of fraud and deception, prevention of waste, establishing a basis for trading, creation and maintenance of confidence, stabilization of the market, and encouragement of better methods of production and handling.

The first definite attempt toward securing the passage of a national apple-grade law was initiated in 1907 by a number of prominent growers, shippers, and dealers, who were instrumental, after working on the problem for several years, in getting the Sulzer bill enacted in congress. This bill became a law in August, 1912, when it was signed by the president, to take effect July 1, 1913. Although this law was not mandatory, it served a valuable purpose in awakening and crystallizing public sentiment the [illegible] which would serve to stabilize the barrel-apple industry by eliminating fraudulent and deceptive packing and by establishing a uniform basis for buying and selling.

Barreled Apple-Grade Laws.

The first state mandatory apple-grade law was passed in Maine in 1913. The following year New York passed a similar law covering barreled apples, which is still in effect in an amended form. This was followed by similar legislation in Massachusetts, Vermont, New Hampshire, Connecticut, Delaware, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Wisconsin—a total of 13 states.

The state laws have not been wholly successful in obtaining the desired results, because the requirements in some cases have not been practical and because the extent to which they have been enforced in some states has varied so greatly that in many instances the grade terms have come to have little value. However, they have done much good. In spite of the objections mentioned, a state law that is practical in its specifications and intelligently enforced will carry with it many advantages.

Specialists in the bureau of markets have conducted investigations in all producing sections and at packing houses handling the products of approximately 1,000 commercial orchards from the Atlantic to the Pacific coasts to ascertain the need of a national uniform apple-grade law. Apple dealers, county agricultural agents, and state college horticulturists were also consulted on the question. Ninety per cent of the growers and dealers who were visited were in favor of apple-grading laws, and county agents and college horticulturists were unanimous in their favor.

Benefits of Standardization.

Without established grades, the specialists say, there is no recognized basis for buying and selling; there is no common language by which the grower, shipper, transportation company, dealer and consumer may clearly understand each other; and there is no standard quality by which values and prices may be fixed. Such a basis cannot be established through individual producers and associations representing hundreds of thousands of farms in widely separated districts, shipping their products to the same markets. Confidence is the foundation of trade, and without grade standardization confidence in the fruit and produce market cannot be established and [illegible] fruits and vegetables are largely sold subject to inspection, or consigned to commission houses to be sold on their merits as revealed when the packages are opened. A misunderstanding or a difference of opinion as to what the grade or quality should be results in many rejections, which necessitates resales and consequent delays and higher prices in placing the product in the hands of the consumer.

Standardized grades furnish a basis for market quotations and tend to stabilize the price of the commodity. Except as based on recognized standard grades, market quotations cannot be comprehensive and reliable, and the national market news service cannot be developed to its highest efficiency. The value of such market reports depends to a large extent upon the accuracy with which the product may be described through the use of fixed grade terms.

There is an educational value in enforcing standardized grades. By being forced to comply with definite standards the producer will improve his methods in both growing and handling his crop, and he will be compensated for his efforts by increased returns, due to the reduction in waste and marketing expenses.

Complete Balanced Feed.

Soy bean hay, while coarse in texture, is readily eaten by cattle and, with silage, forms an almost complete balance of feed.

INCREASED VALUE OF SWEET POTATO CROP

Now Ranks Second Among Vegetables in United States.

Former Unstable and Perishable Product Now Marketed With Practically No Loss Because of Improved Storage Houses.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

When it is considered that the value of the sweet potato has increased more than 80 per cent in the last ten years, that it now ranks second in value among the vegetables in the United States, that the value of the 1917 crop reached the huge sum of $90,000,000, and that of 1918 is estimated at almost $117,000,000, it is not difficult to understand why so much interest is being taken in this crop. The lowly potato, so long accustomed to coming to market along with the farmers' surplus eggs and chickens and other such products, is now moving in solid carloads to the markets of the North, East and West. Only a few years ago sweet potatoes spent their winters in crude and primitive dirt banks in the open field, and under such storage conditions many of them decayed; but now they are stored in specially designed and constructed storage houses in which it is possible to regulate the temperature and ventilation in such a way that this formerly unstable and perishable product can be marketed with practically no loss at any season of the year.

Most Troublesome Fly.

The nasal bot fly seems to be the most troublesome of all to the horse. The "gad fly," a member of the bot family, also attacks cattle, especially in the heels.

Way to Replace Oats.

If short of feed for the teams and unable to get more, remember that proper rest and grooming will go a long ways to replace oats.

EASY WORK FOR YOUNGSTERS

Training and Experience Which Boys and Girls Realize Is of Great All-Round Value.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Teaching poultry club boys and girls the rudiments of poultry keeping was begun by the United States department of agriculture about seven years ago. The average youngster takes to poultry keeping with interest, particularly when he is allowed to sell the surplus meat and eggs and invest the income in the savings bank or in better foundation stock for the improvement of his flock. The training and experience which the children realize from their daily association with hens is of great all-round value to them and is of special help in developing a love for country life and in keeping rural boys and girls on the farm. What a young school girl can accomplish in poultry raising is indicated by a letter from a poultry club girl who writes:

"I keep Barred Plymouth Rocks and single-comb Rhode Island Reds, and in setting my hens I always remove the broody hens from the laying hens and place them in some other building where they will not be disturbed. I never set hens that are exceedingly heavy, as they are more likely to break the eggs.

"When the chicks come I do not feed them anything except grit and charcoal until they are 48 hours old, when I give them either oatmeal and hard-boiled eggs chopped fine, or else biscuit crumbled up with the eggs. I feed in this manner for the first five or six days, giving the chicks small quantities four to five times a day, as these youngsters like to eat often.

"At about the end of the first week I begin feeding small grain in the morning, at midday, and in the evening, and keep a mash made of wheat bran and a little cornmeal, and 10 per cent of beef scrap before the chickens all the time.

"This spring I hatched 135 Red chicks and 110 Rocks and raised nearly all of them. I sold 30 young cockerels and have on hand 195 chicks at present, some of them very fine pullets. I have sold 59 settings of eggs this spring, while during the four months from February to June I sold 164 dozen eggs to neighbors, while we used 42 dozen on our own table. During this period my Rhode Island Reds laid 1,076 eggs, while the Barred Rocks laid 853 eggs."

PREPARE DUCKS FOR MARKET

Fowls Should Be Fattened for Two Weeks Before Killing—Green Feed Colors Flesh.

Ducklings to be marketed should be fattened for two weeks before killing on a ration made of three parts, by weight, of cornmeal, two parts of middlings, one part of bran, one-half part of beef scrap, with 3 per cent grit and 10 per cent green feed added to this mash, or a mash of three parts cornmeal, one part low-grade wheat flour, one part bran, one-quarter part beef scrap with the green feed and grit, and 3 per cent oyster shell added.

Feed this mash three times daily, giving all the ducklings will clean up in a half hour. The green feed is sometimes left out of the ration during the last seven days of fattening, as it tends to color the meat and may produce a slightly flabby, rather than firm, flesh. However, it is easier to keep the ducklings in good feeding condition on a mash containing green

All of the saloon keepers, store keepers and ice cream parlors handling soft drinks, ice cream, tobacco, cigars, etc., and garages had to tak out licenses as required by the new ordinances recently passed by the village board in order to raise revenue to partly offset the loss of the saloon license revenue. The ice cream parlors will raise the prices of sodas next year to 15 cents and sundaes will also be raised in proportion. The various licenses are as follows: Ice cream parlors $15 per year. For sale of tobaccos, etc., $15 per year. Soft drink parlors or saloons as commonly known, $50 per year. Operating pool tables $5 per year. Garages $15 per year. Sale of candies, confectioneries, etc., $10 per year.

Mrs. Stork, mother of Mrs. John Cappel, is the oldest resident in Mokena, if not in this section of Will county. Monday she attained her ninety-seventh birthday. Despite her advanced age she is still able to be about her home. Mrs. Stork was one of the first pioneers to settle here and lived in a log cabin located on the site of the present home. The old cabin stood until a few years ago and was over one hundred years old.

HONOR BRIDE TO-BE WITH A SHOWER

New Lenox, Oct. 2.—A shower was held at the August-Osmus home Saturday by Mrs. August and Mrs. Edward Osmus in honor of Miss Dova [illegible] Joliet, formerly of New Lenox. Mass Batson is about to be the bride of Walter Osmus, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Osmus. The afternoon was delightfully spent in a social manner and with many games. The bride-elect received many pretty and useful gifts.

R. N. A. PLAN BAZAAR.

The New Lenox Camp of the Royal Neighbors were entertained last Thursday at the home of Mrs. Edward Fitzer. The ladies sewed and made other preparations for the bazaar which they are planning for this month, date to be announced later.

PARTY MERRY EVENT.

A party was given at the home of Miss Marie Moore Tuesday evening, September 16. There were about thirty guests present. The evening was spent with games and music. Refreshments were served. A merry time was had.

Fred Stettler is expected home from the army this week.

Al Pugh who is employed at the "J" car shops in Joliet, met with a painful accident last Monday. He, in company with other men, was operating a rivet cutting machine when his left arm got caught in the machine. The arm was badly crushed but no bones were broken. Mr. Pugh has been laid up since.

CONDUCTOR HAS CLOSE CALL.

A conductor on the Joliet and Eastern Traction line had a narrow escape from serious injury Friday. The car had stopped at the local station and while he was attempting to adjust the trolley pole the pole snapped off throwing the conductor backward onto the track. Luckily the pole missed striking him and he did not sustain any injuries.

MRS. FRANCIS ENTERTAINS AT DINNER PARTY.

Mrs. George Francis entertained Wednesday at a five-course dinner in honor of Mrs. Hill of California and Mrs. Rolland Stevens and daughter, Miss Mary of Daytona, Fla. The dinner was served at one o'clock. The dining room was prettily and tastily decorated with pink and white flowers and streamers. The living room was also prettily decorated with fall flowers. The afternoon was spent socially. Mrs. Harlow Francis sang a number of delightfully pleasing solos.

Following were the guests present: Mrs. Charles Francis, Mrs. Fred Francis, Mrs. Howard Francis, Mrs. Edward Francis, Mrs. Harlow Francis, Mrs. Wilbur Francis, Miss Hattie Francis, Mrs. T. J. Doig, Mrs. Milton Johnston, Mrs. Daisy Francis Cormany.

Mrs. Hill will visit for two weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Howard Francis, while Mrs. Roland Stevens and daughter have returned to Florida.

ISSUE NEW TIME CARD.

The Joliet and East Traction has issued the following new time table, becoming effective October 6:

Eastward leave New Lenox at 5:37 7:25, 9:25, 11:25 a. m., 1:25, 3:25, 5:25, 6:36, 8:25 and 10:25 p. m. Westward cars leave New Lenox as follows: 6:05, 7:52, [illegible] a. m. The car leaving Joliet at 6:10 p. m., carrying the working people, will remain on the same schedule as heretofore. It will be noted that the most of the cars will be operated on a two-hour schedule instead of an hour and half as formerly. Save this time card for future reference.

ELECTED DELEGATES.

Edward Francis has been elected delegate and J. W. Owen reserve to represent the New Lenox Methodist church at the lay conference to be held in Chicago the forepart of this month. The annual conference of the Methodist church will be held in Chicago next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Cleveland entertained at dinner Sunday. Following were the guests: Mrs. Louise Hanna and Mrs. P. C. Davis and daughters of Oak Park, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Cleveland of Frankfort, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Schmuhl of Joliet, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Maue of Mokena.

As to Shaving.

When it comes to shaving, we have the word of Pliny for it that Scipio Africanus was the first man who ever shaved everyday. Whether Mr. Africanus shaved himself or was shaved by a barber, Pliny does not say, but it may be gathered from certain remarks of Talleyrand that this is an important point in any man's habits. Asked if Napoleon cut his own whiskers, the great French statesman replied: "Yes. One born to be a king has someone to shave him, but they who acquire kingdoms shave themselves.

One Good Point About Him.

Robert did not seem to think the new baby's looks were all they might be. It was his first view of a real new baby and he stood looking down at the little mite with wonder in his eyes. Suddenly it began to cry most lustily and he looked up quickly with a pleased expression in his eyes and said: "Well, mother, he has lots of pep in his cry anyway."

Calendar Facts.

The month of January always begins on the same day of the week as October and the same is true of April and July, September and December. February, March and November also begin on the same day of the week. This, however, is only true in normal years of 365 days. A century can never begin on Wednesday, Friday or Saturday. Furthermore, the ordinary year ends on the same day of the week as that on which it begins.

Napoleon's Temper.

Defeat was so distasteful to Napoleon that, so it is recorded, when he found an opponent at chess getting the better of him he would with a quick movement sweep board and pieces off the table to the ground.

Matter of Adaptability.

Adaptability works toward contentment; to fit ourselves willingly and cheerfully into the changed conditions that exist today in countless homes throughout this broad land means the lifting of another heavy burden from the heads of the households. Many things in our way of living which we would have once called essentials we now regard as useless, taxing our time and resources. And yet we can live fully, pleasantly, even more smoothly than in other days.—Exchange.

BROUGHT HIM BACK TO EARTH

Liberal Suggestion Made by Old Souse Was Not Exactly the Answer Orator Desired.

The literary society was meeting in Odd Fellows' hall. Rev. Josiah Dobson presided. Hon. James Bolivar McHenry, the noted orator from the adjoining county, was speaking on "The Peace Table," and the audience was rapt in respectful attention.

"And that was what they conceded," he concluded. "I ask you, fellow citizens, what does this nation need? What is her necessity, as she leaves the far western shore and steps proudly across the Pacific, and in the eye of the world lays the hand of democracy upon the brow of the Orient? What, I repeat, does she need?'

"Rubber bootsh," hiccoughed the town souse.

Motion Pictures on Glass.

It is reported that a new method for producing motion pictures by projection through a glass film (as distinguished from the usual commercial film of celluloid) has been worked out. This new glass has the advantage of being only one one-hundredth as large as the film now in use. This so-called glass "film" is in reality a very thin plate of glass, upon which the necessary number of prints are made, and which is shifted mechanically before the arc. It is not known whether this method of projection is in commercial use.

Some men owe all they have in this world to others—and some owe a lot more than they have.

BEYOND POINT OF PERFECTION

Porter's Description of Train Service Is Old, but Has Distinct Tinge of Humor.

President Fairfax Harrison of the Alabama Great Southern Railway said at a luncheon in Richmond:

"The old jokes about poor service on some of our southern and western railroads are antiquated. No trains in the world are more punctual today than our trains, and accidents are practically unknown.

"The story about the porter and the late traveller," President Fairfax continued good humoredly, "is an old one.

"A traveler, according to this story, just missed a train on a certain southern line, notorious for its poor service, and got the following consolation from a porter:

"'She's the punctuallest train, sir, on the line and a great annoyance to travelers.'"

"Well," replied the boy, "you opght to go to the circus and see the elephant."

MANDARIN AND WOOD DUCKS

"Well, sir," said the Mandarin Duck, "it's nice to meet you in the zoo pond. I'd rather meet you here than in the lion house."

"Ha, ha," said the Wood Duck, "quack, quack, you're a funny fellow."

The Mandarin Duck looked much pleased to be called a funny little fellow. He was making every effort to be thought so, even if he were not as funny as he might be!

"I must tell you something quite interesting," said the Wood Duck.

"Do," said the Mandarin Duck, "I'd like to hear what you have to say."

"Not long ago," said the Wood Duck, "there was a paper which published many pictures of interesting animals from the zoo.

"Yes," he continued, "and there was a picture of our pond with many of us swimming about."

"What a great honor," said the Mandarin Duck.

"Yes, wasn't it?" said the Wood Duck.

"I do hope," he added after a few moments, "that you will not think I am conceited when I say that I heard that below the picture was written these words—or words something like these."

"Try to get the right words," said the Mandarin Duck.

"Ah yes, I'll get the right ones. I may not get them in quite their right order. But I will certainly give them to you so you can understand them, and I will not give any wrong meaning to them. It was a great compliment paid me and I do not need to make it up! It was there, right in the paper."

"Do tell it to me, I am getting very much excited," said the Mandarin Duck.

"They said, that people should look at the picture which they said was a lovely one, but that they should principally notice the Wood Duck, the loveliest creature in the picture.

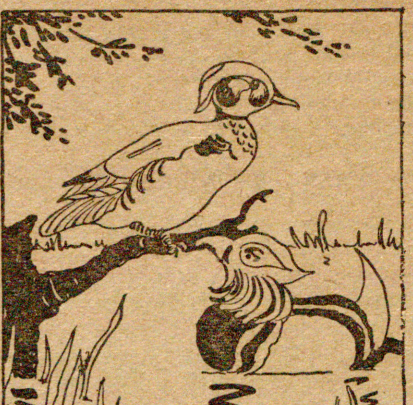
"Wasn't that nice?"

"Very nice," said the Mandarin Duck. "Well I've always said you were a handsome fellow."

"And so are you," said the Wood Duck. "I like to have such a handsome fellow for my companion."

"I am honored to think that I'm the [illegible] was noticed."

"I don't know that it was noticed especially, only the paper said that people should notice it," the Wood Duck said.



It's Nice to Meet You.

"Enough," said the Mandarin Duck. "That's a great, great honor."

"I am beautiful because I look like you," said the Wood Duck. "I'm very, very much like you, only you're a Chinese duck and I am a home grown duck.

"I have another name, as perhaps you know—I am also called the Summer Duck."

"Yes, I knew that," said the Mandarin Duck. "I do believe it is true that they say of all the ducks in the world we're as handsome as any. Our plumage is so beautiful with so many magnificent colors. We're rather rare too, choice, you know."

"The Mr. Mandarin Ducks and the Mr. Wood Ducks are far more handsome than the Mrs. Ducks of either family," said Mr. Wood Duck.

"True, true," said Mr. Mandarin Duck, "we're a handsome lot, we Mr. Ducks, but the Mrs. Ducks have to be busy thinking of other things and doing other things too. Besides it has always been the way with our families and there has been no hard feeling about it—none at all."

"That's so," said Mr. Wood Duck. "Well. I must add that our family has a good second name for this time of the year—the Summer Duck family. Even when we're called the Wood Duck it sounds nice and cool, doesn't it?"

"You've nothing to grumble about," said Mr. Mandarin Duck, "and for that matter neither have I. My family for years have been handsome and I'm no disgrace to them," he ended proudly.

The Effects of Opiates.

THAT INFANTS are peculiarly susceptible to opium and its various preparations, all of which are narcotic, is well known. Even in the smallest doses, if continued, these opiates cause changes in the functions and growth of the cells which are likely to become permanent, causing imbecility, mental perversion, a craving for alcohol or narcotics in later life. Nervous diseases, such as intractable nervous dyspepsia and lack of staying powers are a result of dosing with opiates or narcotics to keep children quiet in their infancy. The rule among physicians is that children should never receive opiates in the smallest doses for more than a day at a time, and only then if unavoidable.

The administration of Anodynes, Drops, Cordials, Soothing Syrups and other narcotics to children by any but a physician cannot be too strongly decried, and the druggist should not be a party to it. Children who are ill need the attention of a physician, and it is nothing less than a crime to dose them willfully with narcotics.

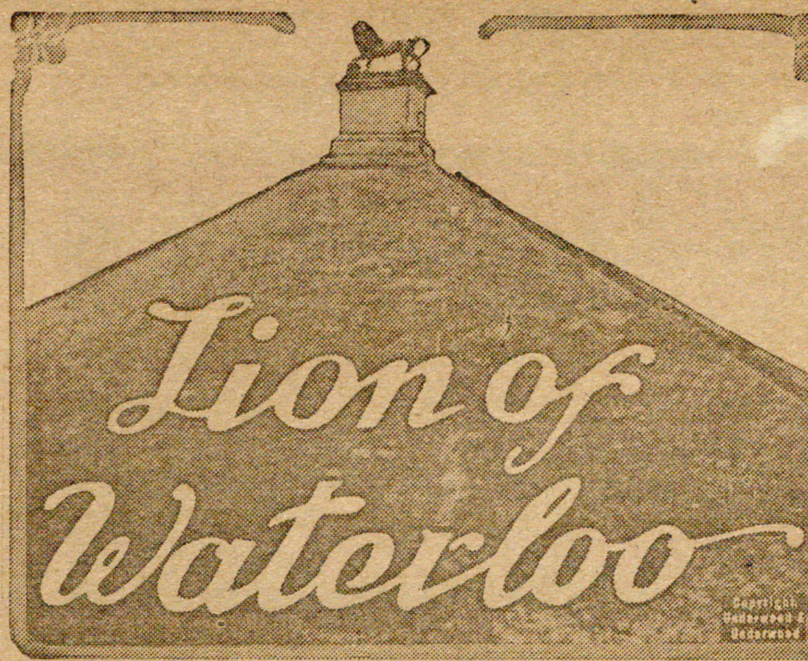
Taking his father's revolver, he managed to kill three German officers in the party which shot his father and mother. For this deed he was arrested and placed in a German prison camp. After six months' confinement he escaped and made his way to a detachment of British cavalry, with which outfit he remained for two years. In 1917, when the Second division of the American army came upon the scene he left his British bunkies and joined in with the "Devil Dogs." He was wounded at Chateau Thierry and Belleau Wood and gassed in the Argonne. He is shown on his arrival in New York aboard the Chicago. He is in charge of Eva E. FAMOUS VATICAN CHOIR WELCOMED TO NEW YORK

Copyright Underwood & Underwood

Mayor Hylan of New York reading his address of welcome to the world famous Vatican choir, which arrived on the Belvidere.



EVERY visitor to the field of Waterloo knows the Lion Mound, but not one in a thousand is acquainted with its true history, and the great majority of British tourists at least regard it as the British Lion. In 1829, shortly after its erection, a French visitor named Saintine described it as "the Belgic Lion looking towards and apparently threatening France." That description seems not to have been forgotten, and probably lies at the root of the suggestion just made in Brussels to turn the lion round so that the threat—it needs a very lively imagination to see any at all—in the pose may be diverted from France in the direction of Holland, writes Demetrius C. Boulger in the Graphic.

What was the origin of the mound and the lion? In the first place, the animal represented is neither a British nor a Belgic emblem; it is the Dutch lion, and somewhere in a corner, if it has not been obliterated, will be found, I imagine, the motto of Nassau-Orange, "Je Maintiendrai." Whatever is done with it, then, the susceptibilities of neither Belgians nor British are involved. The British government have certainly no inherited claim to a voice in whatever solution may be adopted. It is not their concern.

How the Mound Was Built.

In 1826 William I of the Netherlands, the great-grandfather of the present Queen Wilhelmina and one of the most obstinate personages to be found in the whole range of history, conceived that the field of Waterloo required a memorial to establish the heroism of his eldest son, who had received a wound on the occasion. The king was actuated entirely by dynastic considerations, unless he also wished to provide the foundries of Cockerill, in which he was the largest shareholder, with a profitable commission. At all events it is quite clear that the Belgian people took no interest or part in the matter, which was decided by a vote of the states-general at The Hague. The vote being passed, the governments of Britain and Prussia were then invited to make a contribution to the memorial. They complied to a certain limited extent, the British consenting, for their part, to the removal of certain French cannon in Wellington's Belgian fortresses in order to provide the material for the proposed lion.

By that time William had decided on the form of the memorial. It was to be the erection of an enormous mound some 200 feet above the crest of Mont St. Jean, at the spot where his son, the prince of Orange, had been wounded, the mound to be crowned by the Lion of the Netherlands. The clay for the mound was brought from the steep sides of the famous "sunken road," which disappeared in the process, by women of the district, who were paid at the rate of half a franc a basket, and the site marked by Wellington's tree was included within the radius of the elevation—so that when the duke revisited the scene in 1829 with his daughter-in-law, Lady Douro, he made the expressive comment, "My battlefield has been spoilt."

Legend of the Lion's Tail.

The memorial, completed in 1828, had been in existence two years when the Belgian revolution broke out in August, 1830. A year later a French army advanced to Louvain to repel a Dutch invasion. It was said that some of the French corps in that advance crossed the field and took offense, not at the mound or the lion, but at the shape of its tail, which, erect in the air, seemed to express defiance! The story went on to say that in their wrath they broke off the tail, and that the complaisant Belgians supplied the lion with a new one, no longer erect, but made gracefully dependent.

I went to considerable pains in 1901 to show that this legend could have no real basis, because the contemporary drawings in the Brussels Museum of Prints showed the lion being hoisted into its position with the tail in precisely the same form as it wears today. There is no evidence of any change having been made at that time or any other.

In December, 1832, the French army rendered a second signal service to the Belgian people by the siege and capture of the Antwerp citadel, and once more a French regiment traversed the scene without doing any damage. A proposal was then made in the Belgian chamber by a patriotic leader, M. Gendebien, to the effect that the national gratitude should be evinced by the removal of the lion monument altogether. He called it, and justly, as has been shown, "the hateful emblem of the despotism and violence which made us subject for 15 years to the humiliating yoke which we cast off in September, 1830." I could not ask for a more authoritative corroboration of my view that the Lion Mound is a monument to Dutch megalomania without any reference to Britons or Belgians whatever. Certainly the Belgians would never have thought of erecting such a memorial to themselves, and as to this country, it is not its way.

It is quite clear, then, that the mere reversal of the lion's position affords no adequate solution to the problem of satisfying those French sentiments which M. Saintine expressed 90 years ago, and which I do not doubt are still entertained. Once the matter is taken into consideration, there can be no dispute that the position and the pose of the lion are offensive and provocative to the French people, who, on three historic occasions in less than a century, have contributed of their best and bravest to the saving of Belgian independence.

He Might.

In summer time the boy scouts roll down their socks and follow the Scottish custom of cool knees. Down at Camp Kinneuma, in Sullivan county, the scout executive, who is both very tall and very boyish, follows the custom of his boys. It is picturesque and the grown-up visitors understand it, but the other night a tiny girl did not. She stared at the executive most of the time of her visit. Then when the family started home she turned to her her father. "The chief of the scouts is terribly tall, isn't he?" she asked.

"Yes," answered mother.

"I suppose other men's pants would be too short for him," she continued. "But don't you believe that if he saved up a lot of money, mother, he could find a pair long enough for Sundays so his knees wouldn't show?"—Indianapolis News.

Detects Concrete Defects.

An x-ray outfit for inspecting concrete ships is stated by A. C. Freeman to weigh about 90 pounds. The radiographs taken by the apparatus are expected to show whether the concrete mixture has been kept uniform and compact; to detect any holes or voids in the structure; and to reveal any displacement of the reinforcing material. Such defects, when brought to notice in time, can be remedied before the work is completed.

Blank Expressions.

Flatbush—I see a recent invention is a hand telephone with a push button in one side with which telegraphing can be done.

Bensonhurst—Good! Now when the voice with a smile tells you the line is still busy, you can use the telegraph button and make a number of blank marks. The owner of the voice with a smile will know what the blanks mean, all right.

Useful Asset.

Poet—"I sent you some verses about three weeks ago. What have you done with them?" Editor—"I'm holding them. Every little while lately I get thinking that we are not getting out as good a paper as we ought, and then I take those verses and see how much worse the sheet might be, and that makes me cheerful again!"

Doomed.

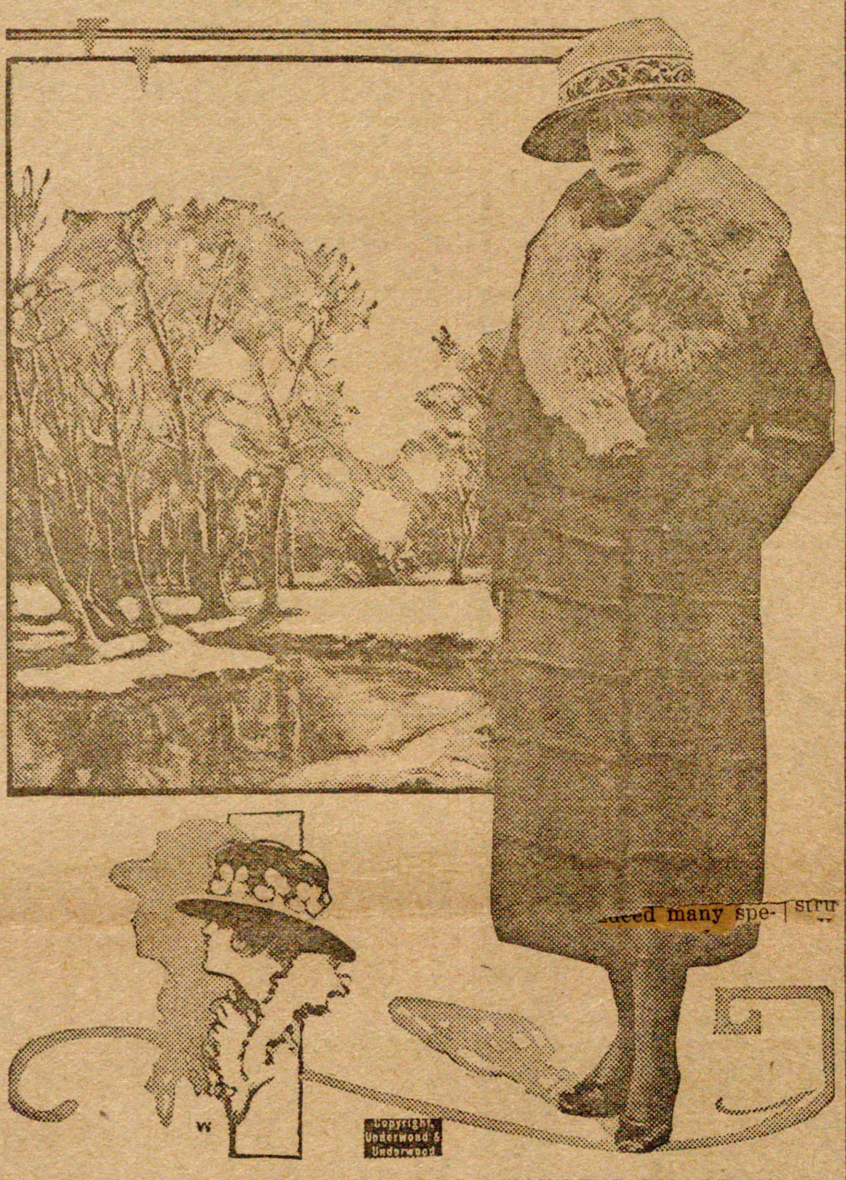
Moving Picture Actor—If you don't soon give me a "part" that has a larger salary connected with it, I shall die of starvation.

Director—If you don't die in the next scene you won't even have a "part."

Furs Almost Beyond Reach

Of course we are appalled at the tremendous cost of even the smallest pieces of fur, but when the manufacturers tell us that the cost of making is equal practically to the cost of the skins we must bow to the inevitable and pay if we can. Because of the peculiar conditions which exist in the fur world, we may look for a great vogue in the plush, velvet, astrachan and other materials which may be called "near" fur, as they give the same degree of warmth without costing anything like so much. Even pony skins are likely to return, it is hinted, and the so-called caracul also, writes Martha Goode Anderson in the New Sun.

It will be recognized at a glance that many of the new garments are really triumphs of the furmakers' art, for the soft and exquisite grace of many of the moleskin wraps would alone prove this assertion if those of no other pelts were considered. Because of the small size of the soft and velvety mole the makers of wraps of this rodent have achieved a beautiful result by blocking the skins in squares, which presents a handsomely-shaded surface. This effect is attained by the use of hot irons which mark the skins in squares or rows, running now and then along the bottom of the long dolmans and capes. One of the handsomest of the moleskin wraps is made up in a dolman effect by outlining a yoke across the back. From underneath this yoke the back of the wrap falls in rather flaring lines quite to the edge of the skirt. An enormous collar of the shawl type folds over the yoke in the back and extends quite to the waistline in front, where it fastens with a huge fur button. There are no sleeves, but long and deep slits at the sides for the arms. Inside the lining is of the handsomest and most beautiful of flesh-pink brocaded satin, with ample pockets fitted at the sides. Of course such a sumptuous wrap is intended for only sumptuous wearing, so to speak. Its cost is close to $1,000, while a companion coat of mink as soft as a baby's skin is well over $2,000.



TRAVELING COAT OF ENGLISH BEIGE, BISSUE-FUR COLLAR. MOST ATTRACTIVE FOR FALL WEAR.

It is most astonishing the way fox holds on. First we have a season when the white stoles are in such demand it seems impossible to meet it, then comes the wonderful cross fox, with its rich blend of yellow and brown, and then the no less beautiful pointed and silver skins. The rage for these beautiful fur pieces is just as insistent now as it was last fall, and again this spring. The long hair of the fox makes it particularly becoming to all and the many shades in which it can be bought have much to do with the demand. Black lynx, too, is a fur which never seems to lose its popularity. It, too, has the long and very soft and silky hair of the fox. Mink, with its shorter hair, has always seemed to be particularly suited to elderly women, but when it is combined, as it is this year, with deep rolling collars of seal or ermine or dyed skunk or some fur with a softer texture and a deeper color, nothing makes a more exquisite wrap. There seems to be a determined effort to produce a demand for monkey fur. It goes well as a trimming for other garments, as I have recently observed it used fringelike on a voluminous and gorgeous evening cape of black satin, faced inside with orchid satin veiled in the same colored chiffon. It is said that monkey skins have almost vanished from the market.

Sports Coats in Fur

Last year muskrat came to be so much in demand as a winter sports coat that the price was pushed almost as high as seal. The muskrat coats are again in high favor for general utility wear, such as motoring, traveling, skating and such allied uses. The skins are blocked and matched with great perfection and made up into whole garments as nearly tailored as a fur coat can be. These are particularly esteemed by younger women, as are the short jackets of gray squirrel. The latter are very smart indeed when made up into the hip length styles and untrimmed by any other fur. Children's coats are especially in demand in this fur and some are also made up in the brown squirrel. As to the smaller wraps, the little coatees which were brought out last season are again to be much used, for the fashion makers are kind enough to permit the use of a last year's model this year, thus doing away with the necessity of paying enormous prices for the making over. The Eton jacket is the newest in the coatee models. The cape coatees are of the same belted models used last year, fitted in at the back and flaring and full in cape effect in front. They, too, have the high, rolling shawl collars seen on all the new fall models. The demand seems to be greatest for the darker furs such as skunk, seal, sable, dyed muskrat and dyed squirrel, but as I said above these are just as often seen in a combination with one of the domestic furs in natural colors.

In selecting the short jackets it must be remembered that nearly all are fitted with the high choker collars and whereas one sees the shawl and rolling collars on the longer coats, and dolmans and capes, the straight-around and high, tight collar seems to be preferred on the shorter coat. This of course permits the use of the extra stole if desired and is therefore advantageous.

As to the demand for the smaller pieces, the one, two and three skins are made up in mink, sable and skunk

FEEL OLD?

Don't let that bad back make you old! Get back your health and keep it. Acid-Stomach

Makes 9 Out of 10

People Suffer

Doctors declare that more than 70 non-organic diseases can be traced to Acid-Stomach. Starting with indigestion, heartburn, belching, food-repeating, bloat, sour, gassy stomach, the entire system eventually becomes affected, every vital organ suffering in some degree or other. You see these victims of Acid-Stomach everywhere—people who are subject to nervousness, headache, insomnia, biliousness—people who suffer from rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica and aches and pains all over the body. It is safe to say that about 9 people out of 10 suffer to some extent from Acid-Stomach.

If you suffer from stomach trouble or, even if you do not feel any stomach distress, yet are weak and ailing, feel tired and dragged out, lack "pep" and enthusiasm and know that something is wrong although you cannot locate the exact cause of your trouble—you naturally want to get back your grip on health as quickly as possible. Then take EATONIC, the wonderful modern remedy that brings quick relief from pains of indigestion, belching, gassy bloat, etc. Keep your stomach strong, clean and sweet. See how your general health improves—how quickly the old-time vim, vigor and vitality comes back!

Get a big 50c box of EATONIC from your druggist today. It is guaranteed to please you. If you are not satisfied your druggist will refund your money.

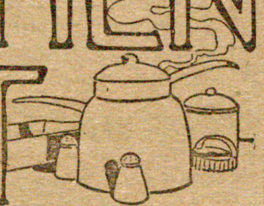
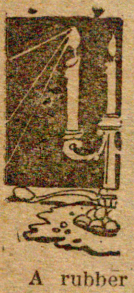
The KITCHEN CABINET



"Oh, suns and skies and clouds of June
And days of June together,
Ye cannot rival for one hour
October's bright blue weather."
—Helen Hunt Jackson.

HINTS FOR THE HOMEMAKER.



A useful article for the kitchen is a small microscope. One may be informed as to the condition of many things which do not show up to the natural eye. Dates, figs, raisins, as well as cereals, are safest examined with a stronger lens than that of the eye. Such foods may be returned at once when found to be unfit.

A rubber plant should be washed with milk once or twice a month. This will keep the leaves glossy and handsome.

Save the discarded tooth-brushes and old underwear for cleaning and polishing silver. A clean, dry brush is the best kind of a cleaner to brush the whiting from chased silver. Use the soft underwear for the hard rubbing, and finish the polishing with a chamois skin.

If silver is rubbed after a soapy bath with a chamois skin, once a week, the hard cleaning will not need to be done so often.

The French way of making tough meat tender is one worth remembering: Lay the steak in a marinade of three tablespoonfuls of olive oil and one and one-half of vinegar; let stand four hours on ice, turning frequently to be sure that both sides are treated then broil as usual.

When cooking a pudding either by steam or in boiling water, take care to replenish the water by boiling water, or the pudding will fall or be soggy.

A nice laundry bag may be made of two bordered towels, using a draw-string at the top. For holding scraps and pieces, a circular bag, which may be laid out flat on the floor will be found convenient, as then any bundle can be quickly found.

A good tonic which may be brewed at home is sassafras tea. This is an old remedy used by our grandmothers, and one which is perfectly reliable. Steep a small handful of sassafras root by covering with a quart of boiling water. Strain and drink half a cupful night and morning. It purifies the blood and acts as a tonic.

Take the bright shell from its home on the lea,
Wherever it goes 'twill sing of the sea;
So take the fond heart from the home and the hearth,
'Twill sing of the loved to the ends of the earth.

AN EVERYDAY LUNCHEON.

If the weather is cool, a bowl of nice steaming hot soup is always a good beginning for a luncheon; then a broiled whitefish, with creamed potatoes; an apple salad, prepared from tart apples; celery, a few nuts and a good salad dressing; then a simple dessert, like musk melon, peaches and cream with a cooky, or a small sponge cake with a dish of sliced bananas.

A good dish which will make a main dish and is very filling is:

Codfish Chowder.—Cut in dice a quarter of a pound of salt pork; fry until brown, then add three to six sliced onions; stir and cook until light-colored; add twice the amount of sliced potatoes, and water to cover; cook until the vegetables are soft, then add a half-pound of shredded and parboiled codfish, a half-dozen milk crackers which have been softened by pouring boiling water over them, a quart of milk and salt and pepper to taste. Serve in bowls, very hot, with a cracker on top of each. Fresh fish may be used in this chowder. Add the fish, cooked until tender, or it may be added about twenty minutes before the dish is ready to serve. Too long cooking of the fish will make it tasteless.

Corn and Rice Muffins.—Take two cupfuls of buttermilk, one cupful of cornmeal, one teaspoonful of soda, a pinch of salt, half a cupful of cream and half a cupful of boiled rice. Mash the rice; add a pinch of salt, and the cream, an egg well beaten and the buttermilk mixed with the soda, then the meal. Bake in buttered muffin tins in a quick oven.

Lemon Sauce.—Take half a cupful of sugar, the juice and rind of a lemon, a tablespoonful of butter and a quarter of a cupful of water; cook until soft, adding an egg, well beaten, by pouring the cooked mixture over the egg, stirring constantly. Serve hot.

I shall be happier than you and calmer, if my doubt is greater and nobler than your faith; if it has probed more deeply into my soul, traversed wider horizons, if there are more things it has solved.—Maeterlinck.

FOOD FOR COOLER WEATHER.

Fall has brought back the oyster from his salty vacation, and now comes the game that makes these days the favorite in the epicure's calendar. Simplicity is the keynote in cookery these days; there is not a game bird or fish that will be improved in flavor by stuffing, or the addition of many seasonings. The charm of any dish is to keep its characteristic flavor, accentuating it, not covering it with seasonings. The old-fashioned method of stuffing all kinds of fowl and game is no longer considered desirable by the best diners.

Duck may be improved by the addition of an onion, a bunch of celery or, as some Southern cooks do, put an oyster in a small bird before broiling or baking.

Wild game that lacks fat is sometimes wrapped in slices of bacon, fastening them with toothpicks if the bird is small, or placing a slice over the breast of a large bird.

For the small birds a nicely toasted square of bread is the best pedestal on which to place the tiny morsel of deliciousness. The toast should always be well buttered and soft, with the crusts removed. Water cress is one of the nicest of garnishes, and a salad of sliced oranges on water cress served with French dressing is the salad par excellence to serve with duck.

Those acquainted with only the cultivated mushroom do not realize the rare flavor of the field variety. They are found in abundance until the frost comes to kill them. It is better to buy them in the market, gathered by some one who is reliable, than to risk being poisoned.

The field mushroom is delightful when simply cooked in a little butter, with salt and pepper for seasoning—some like a bit of cream; then serve them on toast.

Mushrooms make a better supper dish than an earlier meal, as they require little as an accompaniment and are much better enjoyed than when confused with the many items of a more elaborate repast.

"I love the smell of apples when they're gettin' streaky red,
And I love the smell that crinkles from an old-time posy bed;
The earthy spice of new plowed fields is e'en almost sublime,
But there ain't no smell that ekals the smell of picklin' time."

PICKLING TIME.

Don't fail to put up a small jar of the good old watermelon pickles, for there is nothing quite like them, if you care for that kind of pickles.

Watermelon Pickles.—Peel the rind and cut in one and one-half-inch slices; let stand over night in salt water. Make a sirup of four pounds of sugar, two tablespoonfuls of ground cinnamon, one teaspoonful of ground cloves and two quarts of vinegar. Tie the spices in a bag. Pour the hot sirup over the drained melon rind; let stand 24 hours. Reheat the sirup four mornings, then cover for winter use.

Nut Conserve.—Take two pints of grape juice, two pounds of sugar, four oranges sliced thin, the juice and grated rind of a lemon, one and one-third pounds of chopped raisins, two-thirds of a pound of chopped walnuts, one-fourth of a pound of chopped filberts. Dissolve the sugar in the juice, add the other ingredients and simmer for one hour, or until a thick marmalade is formed.

Pickled Onions.—Select small silver-skinned onions; put them in a brine, after peeling carefully. Let stand three days in a brine that will float an egg. Drain and place in a jar, first a layer of onions three inches deep, then a layer of horseradish, a sprinkling of cinnamon, cloves and cayenne or, better, chopped red pepper; repeat until the jar is full. Cover with vinegar, brought to the boiling point; add one cupful of brown sugar to a quart of the vinegar. Pour hot over the onions, and seal.

HARVEST PICNIC A BIG AFFAIR.

Frankfort celebrated its annual harvest picnic Saturday afternoon and evening. This was one of the most successful picnics held for a long time. The grove was well patronized all afternoon and evening. Many prizes were awarded on exhibits of fruit, vegetables and grain raised in this township. A large number of dance tickets were sold. The affair was under the auspices of the Frankfort Industrial club.

A large number of Frankfort people have been attending the Monee fair the past week.

The Kaffee Kranz directed Thursday by the Frauen Verein of the St. John German Evangelical church was largely attended. About $30 were cleared.

The flu, which was so serious here last fall and winter, has made its appearance again, but the cases are not so many nor so severe as they were in the first epidemic.

A man from Gary, whose name was not learned, had a narrow escape from injury the latter part of the week when his car got off the highway east of here and tipped over in a ditch. The front wheels were damaged. The car was towed into the Warning garage, where repairs were made.

ELECT DELEGATE.

The members of the Frankfort Methodist church met Tuesday night to arrange for sending a delegate to the lay conference in Chicago to be held the fore part of this month. Edward Francis of New Lenox and James W. Owen of Frankfort township were elected as delegate and reserve to represent the New Lenox charge, with which the Frankfort church is affiliated.

CELEBRATE MISSION FESTIVAL.

Three special services were held Sunday at the St. Peter's German Evangelical church in observance of the annual Mission festival. Services were held in the morning, afternoon and evening in both the German and English laguages. Pastors from the neighboring churches took part in the services.

Rev. G. Lambrecht of the St. Peter's church has conducted 21 funerals since the first of the year. Not all of these funerals were in Frankfort, however.

Mrs. F. J. Kohlhagen was hostess to the Frankfort Home Improvement club last Tuesday afternoon. A very pleasing program was rendered, which was of special interest to all present.

Edinburgh Landmark Gone.

An interesting bit of old Edinburgh, dating back about 1600, has been burned. The destroyed building, which consisted of a single story and attic, was one of the landmarks of the Holyrood area. It was the old Yew Tree tavern, and stood inside the bounds of the Holyrood sanctuary for debtors, within which, in days of yore, the fugitive was free from the attentions of his creditors.

Choose An Oil Heater Wisely
